Meat Controversy Enters Politics in Seething Fashion

LaGuardia Says No Meat, Except Canned Horse Variety, Is Going Overseas

By ROGER D. GREENE
Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The seething controversy over decontrol of meat erupted across the nation today, keyed to bitter political charges and counter charges.

Only one thing is certain. There is little meat in pan, kettle or oven, and, in some sectors at least, it is getting scarcer.

U.N.R.R.A. Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia said it is not going overseas in U.N.R.R.A. cars. Asked by newsmen in Washington whether his organization is shipping meat abroad, LaGuardia replied, "only some."

Most authorities agree there is plenty of meat, grazing on the ranges. Thus Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio charged that "the available supply of meat has been artificially kept from the people."

"Meat shelves of Ohio are bare," Lausche telegraphed Washington, urging a federal investigation of the meat situation in Ohio.

As political overtones of the scarcity swelled hourly, these were the "major developments":

"The Democrat" official publication spoke of a possible full-dress investigation to determine whether "any political or criminal collusion has taken place." The newspaper's headline proclaimed: "Meat Scandal on Republican Doorstep."

Marine Engineers Stand Pat on Demand

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—C.I.O. Marine Engineers stood pat today on their demand for a national contract or at least a commitment from the Maritime Commission that terms of any east coast ship strike settlement will apply to government vessels in the Pacific.

Forman Trial Is Set for October 15

Local Democratic Leader Was Indicted January 28 by U. S. Jury

Another postponement in the trial of Joseph Forman has been scheduled for October 15. The Ulster county Democratic organization leader scheduled to appear in Federal Court, New York city, on Tuesday, October 15, on charges alleging O.P.A. violations.

The trial of the former Kingston city corporation counsel has been shifted on the calendar a number of times since his indictment by a federal grand jury in New York city last January 28.

The recent postponement occurred on October 7, when Attorney Forman was to have been tried in New York.

Forman is one of seven individuals who were indicted last January by a Federal Grand Jury in connection with alleged diversion involving more than 1,043,000 pounds of sugar, according to the Associated Press, which also named two corporations.

The indictments charged the defendants with filing false O.P.A. statements, unlawful sugar deliveries and conspiracy to deliver sugar unlawfully.

Forman was specifically charged with paying a $200 bribe to William T. Stanton while Stanton was an O.P.A. enforcement agent.

The county Democratic chairman issued a statement which said he had not "transgressed any law or regulation."

Proposal Endorsed
Juneau, Alaska, Oct. 9 (AP)—The capital city of Juneau endorsed the proposal for statehood for Alaska by a 7 to 6 margin in yesterday's general election while scattered returns from other sections of the territory indicated the proposal was carrying by almost a two to one margin.

Mediation Board Fails to Effect Ellenville Pact

Management Refuses Any Representative at Session; 'Slander' Is Charged

Bolstering of the picket line at the strike bound Ulster Knife Company in Ellenville yesterday followed a complete breakdown in efforts of the New York State Labor Mediation Board to effect an agreement between the rival factions.

Following a week-end meeting in Ellenville, Louis Yagoda, of the State Mediation Board, departed from the village convinced that the state board was unable to effect a settlement of the two-month old strike.

The Mediation Board arranged a meeting in Ellenville over the week-end but management refused to send a representative.

The presence of Fred Barnett, organizer for Local 56, Metal Polishers Union, A.F.L., on the grounds that he had uttered slanderous remarks against management at one of the open air union rallies.

Mr. Yagoda declared that active efforts by the Mediation Board apparently were ended in view of two unsuccessful attempts to reach an agreement. He said the Mediation Board might reconsider the case if circumstances warranted.

It was reported unofficially that the union representatives have appealed to the United States Conciliation Board for action in the dispute. A meeting scheduled for Monday of this week was postponed until a later date, it was learned.

Jersey Canneries Use 175,500 Tons of Tomatoes

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 9 (AP)—New Jersey canneries processed 175,500 tons of garden state tomatoes in their 1946 operations as compared with 150,000 tons the previous year.

The average yield of 4.5 tons per acre was below the last 10-year average of about six tons per acre, the State Department of Agriculture said. The opening of the season pointed to a record crop year, but the late blight during August and September hit growers in the state as well as in New York and Pennsylvania, the report said.

Top grades of Jersey tomatoes brought from $35 to $40 a ton, slightly higher than last year.

Cooking oils and fats, shortening, mayonnaise, salad oils, margarine, lard, syrup and other items containing sugar were short in varying degrees in most cities—a list to which the Jacksonville, Fla., reporter tacked on "Bourbon whiskey," and Milwaukee added a diaper shortage.

Boise, Idaho, stood out as a bright spot in the nation. It reported tersely, "no shortage of beef, lamb, sugar or butter," but complained mildly that there was a scarcity of "certain cuts of pork."

Supervisors Vote to Establish County Health District; City Will Be Included in Arrangement

Hop of U. S. B-29's Over Globe Hangs On Policy Angle

Diplomats Fear Flight May Be Regarded as Use of Big Stick by This Nation

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—Final government approval of a projected globe girdling flight by as many as two dozen B-29 Superfortresses hung today on a diplomatic "if."

Officials predicted privately that the State Department probably would approve the Army Air Forces plans for the flight—if some way can be found to minimize the venture as a type of "big stick" diplomacy.

The problem confronting the State Department is that whatever may be the intentions behind the project, diplomats here and in foreign offices around the world appear certain to read into it various political implications.

This is a source of concern to American officials who contend that United States relations with Russia—although based at present on Secretary of State Byrnes' policy of "firmness"—must be kept in balance. They particularly do not want to present any evidence of sword-rattling or other gestures which might upset world affairs at a particularly difficult juncture.

Russia already has built a propaganda campaign around what critics call anti-Soviet American diplomacy. Furthermore, former Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace here as well as various leaders abroad have raised a major public issue over what they variously term a "tough policy" toward Russia or the need for a new approach to Russian relations.

Announced to Conference
The round-the-world flight plan was announced to a news conference late yesterday by Undersecretary of War W. Stuart Symington.

He said the flight would go by way of Cairo, India and the Pacific, would include between 20 and 24 of the Army's heaviest regular service bombers and definitely would be made in the next few weeks "if the State Department approves."

At the State Department, officials promptly let it be known that they had only a vague foreknowledge of Symington's announcement. They added they would make no decision before receiving the formal proposal.

Symington made two statements to newsmen implying possible diplomatic significance in the project.

He said "this flight will compare with round-the-world voyages made in earlier days by the American fleet."

He also declared that the "forces must be considered of primary importance" in carrying out the American national policies.

Has Held Spotlight
Recently the Navy, with special squadrons in the Mediterranean and aircraft carriers moving back and forth, has held the spotlight as an instrument of national policy.

The Army Air Forces, however, made one bid for public recognition with the transpolar "Pacusan Dreamboat" flight from Honolulu to Cairo last week-end. In terms of public attention a globe-circling fleet of planes would advance the Army Air Forces' interest much more.

Symington termed the Dreamboat flight "but another proof that Gen. Carl Spaatz, A.A.F. commander, and his staff are right when they emphasize the danger of an attack over the Polar regions."

Describing the B-29 "the only production airplane capable of carrying an atom bomb," Symington said "few people realize what a revolution in military development has been effected" by the development of the Superfortress.

Lie Might Enter Atomic Discussions To Speed Progress

U.N. Secretary-General Speaks Prior to Award Given to Baruch for His Work

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The first public hint that Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General, might take a hand in the slow-moving atomic energy discussions raised far-reaching questions today as Bernard M. Baruch held firmly to the American plan to harness the atom for peace.

Lie dropped the hint during a short speech last night just before Baruch was awarded the Freedom House Plaque for his services as the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission. However, Lie later told newsmen that he had no intention of intervening immediately.

In accepting the honor, presented by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Baruch maintained that the American plan, which Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of commerce, has bitterly assailed and which has been rejected by Soviet Russia, is "generous and just."

To the applause of three cabinet members and some 1,500 diners, Baruch bluntly declared that "no amount of deliberately created confusion shall prevail" against the American plan he outlined last June 14.

Strikes At Russia
His audience listened quietly and carefully as he struck at Soviet Russia's stand that the control inspections insisted on by America would violate national sovereignty.

Lie departed from his prepared text to hint at intervention, saying "it is not my duty at least at the time being to take sides in that debate."

Lie said after the dinner that he merely was stating his right under Article 99 of the United Nations charter.

While this was the first time that Lie ever has shown publicly any interest in intervening in the Atomic Commission affairs, he has won the right from the Security Council to express himself on cases before it. The Atomic Energy Commission is responsible to the Security Council.

Snyder Represents President
Secretary of the Treasury Snyder greeted Baruch last night on behalf of President Truman and read a message from the President praising Baruch. Also at the speaker's table were Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Interior Krug.

The members of the Atomic Energy Commission from Australia, Britain, China, Canada, Brazil and Mexico were present. A message was read from the delegate from the Netherlands regretting that he had been called away and could not attend. Freedom House officials said the Soviet delegate, Andrei A. Gromyko, notified them he could not attend.

President Sends Letter to County, City O.P.A. Staffs

Truman's Commendation Goes to Volunteers Who Helped in Emergency

City and county volunteer O.P.A. workers who served during the war-time rationing period have received a letter of commendation from President Truman in recognition of their past, present and future service in stabilizing the nation's economy.

Mr. Truman's letter went to thousands of volunteer workers whose services ended with the expiration of O.P.A. and rationing. A skeleton force has been carrying on the work throughout the country since partial controls were re-instituted on September 9.

Members of the Kingston Price Control Board who received letters of commendation included Matthew Herzog, chairman; Judge John M. Cashin, Robert R. Rodie, Stanley J. Matthews, Roy M. Sutcliffe, George E. Yerry, Jr., William J. O'Reilly, Mabel Fisher, Thomas J. Murray, Harry Kaplan, Frank L. Gollnick, Lawrence Eutner.

The city volunteer workers unit included Mrs. George D. Logan, Mrs. Dorothy Blume, Mrs. Arthur Ballard, Miss Joyce Burhans, Edward Cowdrey, Mrs. Peter Ginder, Mrs. Henry Jones, Mrs. William H. Lieske, Miss Jacqueline Kaplan, Mrs. M. Donald Lane, Mrs. Stanley.

U. S. Is Ready to Put Garsson Case Before Federal Jury

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The government completed arrangements today to lay the "Garsson Case" before Federal grand jurors as a demand arose that Rep. May (D-Ky.) answer Senate investigators' questions about the wartime munitions combine prior to the November election.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.), a member of the Senate investigating committee which spent six weeks delving into the once sprawling arms venture, told reporters that "in justice to May" the committee should arrange an early appearance for the Kentucky lawmaker.

There was no reference to May in Attorney General Tom Clark's terse announcement last night that the Garsson case would be presented to a grand jury beginning tomorrow. Chief Justice Bolitha J. Laws of the District of Columbia Court is to be in charge of the inquiry.

Two special assistants to Clark, William A. Paisley and Isaiah Matlack will present the government's case. It was built upon a "full" F.B.I. investigation into facts turned up by the Senate committee's lengthy hearings. Without referring to the pending grand jury phase, Brewster

Improvement Is Seen in Strikes; Secretary Assists

Pontiac, Warren Disputes Are Settled; Meetings Planned on Power Situation

(By the Associated Press)
There were some improvements in the nation's industrial strife today but settlement did not appear imminent in the country's two major disputes—the maritime strike and the Pittsburgh power shutdown.

Disputes involving municipal workers in Pontiac, Mich., and bus drivers in Warren, Ohio, were settled, while in Ohio city early settlement of a power strike that curtailed service to 75,000 consumers was hinted. There also was a possibility of a strike of 6,700 Mack Truck Co. workers in three cities might be settled soon.

In Pittsburgh, Federal conciliators planned separate meetings with officials of the struck Duquesne Light Co. and the Independent Union in an attempt to settle union demands for a 20 per cent wage hike and end the 16-day old walkout. Pittsburgh's 2,700 A.F.L. street car operators remained idle as they refused to pass power union picket lines.

Secretary of Labor Schwelbintervened in the nationwide maritime strike in an effort to bring at least a partial settlement of the dispute which has tied up shipping on all coasts for more than a week.

Schwelb, hoping to bring a strike settlement on the east and Gulf coasts, made a personal plea for agreement after Capt. C. J. Day, head of the west coast branch of the A.F.L. masters, mates and pilots, said he was leaving for San Francisco to "fight it out on the west coast."

The Labor Secretary appeared after a tentative agreement on union security, reached earlier between the A.F.L. union and the Atlantic and Gulf ship owners, ran into a snag.

Fuel Employees Name Metal Trades Council

Employees of three fuel distributing companies in Kingston have designated the Kingston Metal Trades Council as bargaining representatives for union negotiations with management, George E. Yerry Jr., business agent, said today.

Approximately 30 employees of the Ulster Fuel Oil, Heat and Power Company, Ulster Distributing Company and the Kingston Oil Supply Corporation are affected by the move.

Negotiations will start in the next few days for higher wages, improved working conditions and other matters defined by the National Labor Relations Act.

The action started by employees of the three companies is expected to be the spearhead for a bigger drive embracing all the fuel distributing companies in Ulster county.

Cites Better Conditions
Supervisor Harry Snyder, speaking on the resolution, said that members of the Board had long been conscious of the need for the establishing of a County Health District and he felt sure that all members would favor such legislation which he classified as "one of the most important matters to come before the Board in a long time." Mr. Snyder, who was a member of the Public Health Committee at the time of the establishing of the Public Health Nursing program, said that this program was the aid of the sick and ailing had at its inception been criticized. "There were numerous complaints as to the non-necessity of that program at first, but, as time went on and we all realized the full accomplishments of the program, we can all look back and see just how foolish those complaints were," Mr. Snyder said. "As a member of that committee I studied the figures and during the first six years of Public Health Nursing in Ulster county after the nurses began to travel throughout the area and administer to the people, there was a very substantial decline in the percentage of deaths from a half dozen of our most severe diseases," Mr. Snyder said.

He pointed out that the death rate from six or seven of the most serious diseases dropped from two to 12 per cent after Public Health Nursing was established and he said there had been a reduction of 115 deaths from those diseases of residents of the county, indicating a very substantial number of lives were being saved because of the program.

Mr. Snyder said figuring the cost of Public Health Nursing in the county, the per capita cost was 14 cents, an extremely insignificant sum to be paid by each citizen of the county for the saving of 115 lives.

Snow Plan Voted
State Will Pay Total Cost of Snow Removal in County

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors last evening voted unanimously for establishment of a County Health District in accordance with a newly enacted provision of the Public Health Law. Under the plan, which will become effective January 1, 1947, the county and city board of health will be combined under one county-wide unit.

Members of the Common Council on September 26 voted for the consolidation of the Kingston Board of Health with the county unit following an invitation from Edward E. Murray, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, written to Mayor Edelmuth and the Common Council on September 16, suggesting that the city join in the unified plan and that should the city desire to join the plan, that a resolution to that effect be forwarded to the Board of Supervisors as soon as possible. That request was followed by the city's acceptance of the plan and the adoption of a resolution by the Common Council.

Both the Ulster County Medical Society and the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association have favored the establishing of a County Health District under the provisions of the new state law.

Recommended by Supervisor Groves, Cook, Elliott, Jordan and Bell, members of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors committee on TB Hospital and Laboratories, unanimously adopted when moved by Supervisor Groves, chairman of the county health department has been established the state reimburses the district to the extent of 75 per cent of the first $100,000 expended and 50 per cent of any expenditure in excess of $100,000.

In moving for the establishment of County Health District, Mr. Groves asked that in accordance with the action taken by the city of Kingston, that the city be included in the unit as requested by the resolution of the Common Council.

He said he felt sure that all members of the Board would vote favorably for the establishment of the program.

Osman to Preach Farewell Sermon Sunday October 27
Presbyterians Will Act on Resignation of Pastor Thursday at 7:30 P. M.

A meeting of the congregation of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will be held in the chapel of the church on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock to act on the resignation of the Rev. Robert E. Osman as pastor of the church. The Rev. Mr. Osman has accepted a call to become pastor of the Presbyterian Church in New Salem, Pa., and will preach his farewell sermon in the downtown church on Sunday, October 27. At the meeting Thursday it is expected that a committee will be named to call candidates to preach in the church, and also a committee to meet with the North River Presbyterian in Highland to ask that the pastoral relations of the church and Mrs. Osman be dissolved.

Hull Still Serious
Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The condition of former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who suffered a slight relapse yesterday, was reported unchanged today at Bethesda Naval Hospital. A 9 a. m. report from the hospital said: "Mr. Hull rested fairly well during the night but there is no change in his condition which is considered serious." Hull's condition has ranged from serious to critical since he suffered a stroke nine days ago. He entered the hospital September 12.

Lifelong Friends Hear Sad News About Sons
Westbury, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—A boss contractor and his superintendent—lifelong friends—were at work together on a housing project yesterday when two policemen approached. One policeman spoke quietly to the contractor, Ralph Weidner, and the other listened with a grimace as Weidner told his son, Robert, 13, had been seriously injured in an auto accident.

The building superintendent, Ralph Eldridge, Sr., put a sympathetic arm around his old friend as he heard the bad news. Then the other policeman stepped forward and told Eldridge his son, Ralph, Jr., 31, had been drowned in another accident. Both accidents were reported to have occurred at precisely 8:58 a. m.

Bail on Delpino Fixed at $50,000 In Kidnap Case
Patsy Delpino, 33, Poughkeepsie war veteran and ex-convict, was placed under $50,000 bail when arraigned yesterday in Poughkeepsie on charges of attempted kidnaping.

Delpino was unable to furnish the bail, one of the highest in Dutchess county history and was lodged in the Poughkeepsie city jail to await grand jury action. The ex-convict, who served a five year sentence in Sing Sing on a rape charge, was foiled in a kidnap attempt, police said, by Miss Jane Lawrence, 26, Poughkeepsie Junior League, on Monday.

Miss Lawrence told police that Delpino barged into her car when it came to a stop on Main street, Poughkeepsie, and ordered her to drive where he directed "if she didn't want any trouble." Miss Lawrence drove three blocks and then was halted by a red light. She sprang from the car and dashed across Main street to a corner where Detective William Owens was standing. Delpino left the car and fled in confusion into an apartment house. He was found later by Detective Owens.

John J. Carey, formerly associated with the Parker Wilder Company of New York city and more recently with the Aviation Supply Office Department of the Navy in Philadelphia, died last evening in this city. He was a son of the late James and Ellen Carey of Kingston. He is survived by his wife, Kathryn L. Carey; one sister, Mother Marie Loyola of the Religious Sacred Heart of Mary; four brothers, James A. and Francis P. Carey of New York city; Thomas Carey of Chicago; and the Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain of the Benedictine Hospital. The funeral will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 236 Fair street, Thursday, October 10 at 9:30 a. m. and at 10 o'clock from St. Mary's Church where a solemn high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Other arrangements will be announced later.

The funeral of John J. Raskoskie was held from his late residence, 52 First avenue, Tuesday morning, October 8, at 9 o'clock, thence to the Immaculate Conception Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered on the main altar by the Rev. Joseph Sieczek for the repose of his soul. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir, assisted by Miss Theresa Gehringer at the organ. At the same time Masses were offered at both side altars by the Rev. William J. Brennan of St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, and the Rev. John Brown of St. Joseph's Church, Kingston. While he reposed in his home his many friends called to offer their sympathy. The room was completely banked with flowers and there were many spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. Monday evening the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Society called and was led in the recitation of the Rosary by their Spiritual Director, the Rev. Joseph Sieczek. Burial was in Mt. Calvary cemetery, where the Rev. Joseph Sieczek gave the final blessing. The bearers were Robert Gill, Stanley Jablonski, John Mazzini, Francis Wojciechowski, David Wisniewski and Michael Melnik.

The funeral of George W. Grunenwald, who was accidentally killed early last Sunday morning, was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home and at St. Peter's Church at 9:30, where a high Mass of requiem for the repose of his soul was offered by the Rev. Joseph A. Gels, pastor of the church. The Rev. J. Edward Kelsch, C. Ss. R., was the deacon and the Rev. Henry Herdgen was sub-deacon. The church was filled with many relatives and friends from all sections of the city, who came to pay their final respects. During the Mass Mrs. Caroline Perry, soloist, sang "Ave Maria" at the offertory and at the conclusion, following the blessing, she sang "Panis Angelicus." During the bereavement hundreds called at the funeral chapel to express sympathy to the family and offer prayers for the repose of the soul of the deceased. Among those who called were the Very Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, the Rev. Austin E. Carey, the Rev. John D. Simmons, Fathers Geis and Herdgen. At 7 p. m. members of St. Peter's Holy Name Society came in a body and recited the Rosary under the direction of Father Herdgen. At 8 o'clock Kingston Post, 150, American Legion, held its ritualistic service for a departed comrade. At 8:30 p. m. members of Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, recited the Rosary under the leadership of Father Simmons. Many beautiful floral pieces and scores of Mass cards were placed near the flag-draped casket, testifying to the high esteem in which he was held. Bearers were Frank Kiwus, Robert King, Jacob Senor, Michael Brown, Jr., William Golden and Joseph Disch, all members of the Knights of Columbus. At the end of the Mass the entire congregation rose and stood at attention during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner in tribute to the service rendered by this country by the deceased during World War 2. Burial was in the family plot in St. Peter's

Plan Anticipated For Russians to Get Ryukyu Chain
U. S. Expected to Oppose Move, Favoring That Islands Go to Chinese

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—A Russian plan to stake claim to the highly important Ryukyu chain of islands between Japan and Formosa—among them blood-drenched Okinawa—is frankly anticipated in American diplomatic quarters. Highly placed officials told a reporter privately today that the United States will oppose the expected Soviet move on the ground that the islands—if they are to be transferred from Japanese ownership at all—should go to China.

As an alternative to Chinese sovereignty, the United States would be agreeable to placing the islands under a United Nations trusteeship, solely administered by China. These views stem from the fact that this country has a battle-worn interest in the islands, particularly Okinawa as the scene of some of the toughest fighting of the Pacific war.

There reportedly is "general agreement" among the Pacific powers for the return to China of Formosa itself, fabulous territory of headhunters, gold and sugar. Formosa was wrested from China at the turn of the century by terms of the Sino-Japanese peace treaty. The Ryukyu chain sprawling northward from Formosa separates the open waters of the Pacific and the Yellow Sea, at the far end of which Russia has a vital stake in Port Arthur and Dairen.

In some ways, the situation might be termed comparable to that of the Dardanelles on the other side of the world. Here, Russia has a vital stake in the straits. A regular meeting of Ancient City Council 21, R. & S. M. will be held at Masonic Temple on Thursday evening. Atharhaeton Rebekah Lodge will meet Thursday evening at Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street, starting at 8 o'clock.

The Ladies' Helping Hand Society will meet in the lodge rooms corner Broadway and Brewster street Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The regular meeting of Clinton Chapter 445, O.E.S., will be held at Masonic Temple Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock. At this time the worthy matron will give the report of the annual sessions of the grand chapter now being held in New York city. Following the meeting the men will have a chafar of entertainment and refreshments. All Eastern Stars and Master Masons are invited.

Will Hold Clinic Friday At Lomontville School
Dr. Edward Shea, health officer for the town of Marletown, will hold a clinic in the Lomontville school Friday morning, October 11, starting at 10 o'clock. Innoculations for diphtheria and vaccinations for small pox will be given. The clinic is open to all children between the age of six months and eight years. Although children have had diphtheria and immunization shots when babies, it is desirable to have this repeated before the child is eight years of age, reported Dr. Shea.

Dr. Shea will be assisted by Mrs. Hilda Coddington, public health nurse, and members of the lay nursing committee.

Truck Strike Meeting
New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Representatives of striking truck drivers and affected motor carriers met today with Mayor William O'Dwyer's Special Advisory Committee in a new effort to settle the 39 day tieup which has left many store shelves bare. John E. Strong, president of Local 807, International Brotherhood of Teamsters (A.F.L.), the largest striking union, and Joseph M. Adelzi, chairman of the Employers' Negotiating Committee, refused to comment on a report the mayor's committee would offer a new formula for settlement. Representatives of two other striking locals did not attend.

The stock ticker was invented by Samuel F. Laws, a Presbyterian clergyman. Cemetery, where the Rev. Father Herdgen pronounced the final absolution. A firing squad under command of J. Mayone, others being J. Howard, J. Crosby, V. Osborne, R. Zimer and E. Jones, fired three volleys over the grave, following which taps were sounded by S. Castiglione, bugler.

DOBBIN DISHES

Horsemeat promises to become an American menu item. A Newark, N. J., dealer already handling 60,000 pounds, expects to open a horsemeat market in New York city in a section where there is a large population of Belgian, Dutch, Italian and French people. Horsemeat long has been accepted in their homelands. The merchant says he has no difficulty obtaining supplies, and already handles two carloads of it from a Kansas slaughter house that buys its animals from Wisconsin, Iowa and Canada horse ranges. Boneless cuts, including filet mignon, will be 20 cents a pound, others 16 cents.

New York city's health commissioner said that if sanitary codes were observed, no restrictions would be put upon horsemeat sales. He added that horsemeat is being canned in the city and sent to Europe through U.N.R.R.A.

There seems to be no dietary or logical reason for America's aversion to eating horsemeat. The horse is a more fastidious animal in its habits than the pig or the chicken, and certainly should be no less appealing to the palate than, say, the rabbit or the frog. Just the same, to anybody who has lived with a horse as a pet, eating flesh of this animal will come hard.

ART FOR TRAIN RIDERS

Railroad riders are going to be exposed to art. New York Central trains between Chicago and New York will hang fine prints of old masters in all passenger trains. One train will carry prints of originals in the Metropolitan Museum in New York city, the other, copies of paintings in the Chicago Art Institute.

Whoever thought up this plan had a real idea. Passengers will doubtless enjoy these pictures.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

The prevention of accidental death even in the atomic age is the purpose of the National Safety Congress now being held in Chicago.

The need for offsetting a philosophy of futility which is said to be prevalent in this country is being emphasized at the convention.

The Safety Council will do its best to prevent needless death and suffering from the time a child is born until he dies of natural causes after a long and useful life. There are 100,000 Americans killed each year as a result of less spectacular causes than the atomic bomb.

Pointing to a recent statement by a prominent educator that educational efforts aimed at young people seem futile because the world may not last long, Council President Dearborn says, "I don't subscribe to that idea for a minute, and I hope our convention can be the means of doing something toward arousing the nation to reject it."

SCHOOL BUS LAW

New York state laws were amended this year making it illegal to pass a stopped school bus from either direction unless signaled by the bus operator to proceed. Signs warning motorists not to pass school busses which are stopped to pick up or discharge pupils will be erected along heavily traveled school bus routes at strategic points.

Vigorous enforcement of this law is expected by the authorities.

HELPING THE DEAF-BLIND

A new organization, the Committee for the Deaf-blind has been started under the American Foundation for the Blind. It is headed by the world's most famous deaf-blind woman, Helen Keller, who planned it. Writing from Foundation headquarters in New York city, Miss Keller makes an eloquent plea for "those loneliest human beings on earth."

The trained blind, she points out, live happily in a world of sound. The deaf have eyes to rely on. But the deaf-blind can escape from the dreadful monotony of silent days

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

LEHMAN'S DILEMMA

Herbert Lehman, candidate for the United States Senate, is altogether a different personality from Herbert Lehman, Governor of the State of New York, or even Herbert Lehman, head of U.N.R.R.A. His position as Governor was fairly secure until he faced an effective opponent in Thomas E. Dewey. In 1938, he defeated Dewey by 64,000 votes. In 1942, Lehman removed himself from the campaign. Dewey defeated his opponent, John J. Bennett, Jr., by 647,000.

Herbert Lehman went into U.N.R.R.A., which is an administrative mess so bad that its sponsors are discontinuing it as a relief agency. At any rate, Lehman got out because he was too ill to continue. Nevertheless, he is well enough to run for the U. S. Senate. But he is no longer running solely as a Democrat. He is the candidate also of the American Labor Party and of the Communists. Pressure is put upon him to dance to the tune of the Administration, which has stood by Byrnes, and the Communists, who are supporting Wallace. He is dancing at two weddings at the same time and it is ludicrous. Wallace tried that game on Bernard Baruch and got his knuckles cracked. Baruch showed that Wallace was untruthful, but Lehman is seeking Wallace's support. The Communist "Daily Worker" supports Lehman; yet it makes this point:

"But we would have liked to see Mr. Lehman criticize frankly the propaganda emanating from the State Department which does not credit the Russians with a desire for agreements, and attempts to paint the American people into the G.O.P. trap of 'retaliation.'"

"There is no doubt of the difference in stature between a Lehman and an Ives. But he could have asked in a very positive manner that we return to the path of F.D.R. The former governor could have spoken much more sharply than he did against the dangers of the policy that Byrnes is now following. Surely, he will have to do that in the Senate. Now is the time for clarity."

No man can do what Herbert Lehman is trying to do. No man can be for Byrnes and Wallace. Nobody can support Truman and at the same time oppose his State Department. No man can be for appeasement for Russia and a just peace. It is impossible for any man to be a political Houdini of the type that Lehman is trying to be. And the pity of it is that a man who had established a fine reputation as Governor of New York State is reducing his stature step by step until at what might have been the end of a glorious career, he becomes a ridiculous figure who depends upon Communists and Left Wingers for an office. It is a pity. Instead of supporting the policy of his country, he is playing ducks and drakes with policy.

For what it is all leading up to is a debate in New York State Senatorial campaign of the American foreign policy while Mr. Byrnes is in Paris writing treaties. It is the irresponsible stabbing the responsible in the back. It is the man who does not count sacrificing a public servant who is actually engaged in carrying out his country's policy. Governor Lehman has a right to do all that if he wants to. It is his privilege to join the ranks of Elliott Roosevelt, Henry Wallace, and Henry Morgenthau, Jr., in their labor to destroy the career of Harry Truman as an act of vengeance for his throwing New Dealers out of office.

But it is cheap and vulgar and unparliamentary to create increasing difficulties for Mr. Byrnes, who is doing a magnificent job for his country and who took the foreign policy of his country out of partisan politics by winning bipartisan support for his policies.

If Mr. Lehman desires to make a partisan issue of the nation's foreign policy, he will undoubtedly succeed. He will give and he will take—but the country will pay. He will make speeches but every speech will be another handicap for Secretary Byrnes and for the United States. If that is what Lehman sets out to do—fine. And maybe he will get the Communist vote.

GALL BLADDER DISTURBANCES

One of the common sayings of twenty years ago was that gall stones and gall bladder disease were found in women fair, fat and forty. Most physicians at that time believed that wearing corsets was the cause of gall stones and gall bladder disease in women, and it is true that since women stopped wearing tight corsets, or no corsets, the percentage of women with gall bladder disturbances has decreased.

However it was never believed that tight corsets were to blame for all cases of gall bladder disease even in women, so that many research workers have been seeking the other causes. That sluggishness of the liver and gall bladder is a factor in causing gall stones and an inflamed gall bladder (cholecystitis), has been proven by experimental work at McGill University, Montreal. It was found that exercise of the middle third of the body—the abdomen—by bending exercises, "squeeze" the liver causing more bile (gall) to flow and also empty the gall bladder. An active liver and gall bladder means good digestion, freedom from constipation and prevents inflammation of the gall bladder and formation of gallstones.

In Surgery, Gynecology and Obstetrics, Dr. E. A. Simendinger states that gall stones and an underactive thyroid gland have much in common: 1. High blood cholesterol levels. 2. Overweight. 3. Low basal metabolic (body processes do not work fast enough). 4. Common in middle-aged women.

In commenting on this great similarity between an underactive thyroid gland which allows fat to accumulate in and on the body especially in middle-aged women, the Editor of Clinical Medicine states that the giving of thyroid extract in small doses (1 or 2 grains) daily to patients who have evidences of lack of thyroid juice (thyroidism), might prevent gall stone formation. Also, patients with inflamed gall bladder, but no stones already formed, should be treated with thyroid extract.

Remember, then, that gall bladder disturbances in middle-aged overweight women may be caused by lack of thyroid juice which can be learned from a metabolism test.

Liver and Gall Bladder

The liver does more different kinds of work than any other organ in the body. Anything that interferes with its work upsets all the body processes. The gall bladder can cause many distressing symptoms. Send ten cents, coin preferred, and a three cent stamp to the Bell Syndicate in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for booklet No. 119, "Liver and Gall Bladder."

only through the sense of touch. By training this, their remaining sense, they can be restored to life's goodness and the dignity of useful work, man's divine heritage, binder up of broken hearts.

When one's spirits drop to a bottomless low, here is inspiration for going on—Helen Keller out to help other Helen Kellers scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Work of laying tracks of the Kingston and Ellenville branch of the O. & W. railroad, was started in May, 1902, and on Friday, October 25, of that year, the first train arrived at the Kingston station on Fair street extension from Ellenville at 5:20 p. m.

The first train consisted of a locomotive and seven flat cars that had been used in the construction work. As there was still considerable fill to be made along the right of way between Ellenville and Kingston passenger service did not start until later.

The railroad tracks extend for a distance of 28 miles between the village of Ellenville and this city, and the stations along the line of the road are Kingston, Hurley, Cottekill, High Falls, Kyserike, Accord, Kerhonkson, Wawarsing, Nanapanoch and Ellenville.

In a letter received by a local resident in October, 1902, it was stated that passenger service would start about the first of January, 1903, and that the fare from Kingston to Ellenville would be 36 cents.

For a number of years passenger service was maintained between this city and the village of Ellenville, but in late years only freight and mail has been carried. I recall the years when I was a cub reporter on The Freeman that annually it was one of my assignments to cover the county fair at Ellenville.

In order to get to the fair grounds I had to take the early morning train on the O. & W., which got me into Ellenville around 10 o'clock in the morning. In order to get back to Kingston the same day I had to catch the train leaving Ellenville between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Turning from railroad to music, the Mendelssohn Club was organized Monday evening, October 20, 1902, with Dr. C. H. Bishop, for years a well known dentist of the city, and long active in the musical life of Kingston, as the club's first president.

Frank R. Powley, who was president of the Kingston Coal Co., was elected vice president of the club; Charles M. Eastmead, musical director; Chris. K. Loughran, secretary; Edgar E. Becker, treasurer, and Elmer A. Burger, librarian.

The club for some years met one evening a week in Mr. Eastmead's music studio at 65 John street. Eastmead was also a member of the Euterpe Club, a widely known musical organization of Poughkeepsie.

Another musical organization that was born on October 1, 1902, was the Kingston Choral Club with a membership of fifty. This club met once a week in the rooms over the W. H. Rider music store on Wall street.

I have no record of the officers of the Choral Club.

The Mendelssohn Club is still active in the musical life of the city, and annually gives a concert in the city. I think that the last annual concert of the club that attended was back in the years before the first World War, when the club staged its annual affairs in Association Hall on Pine Grove avenue.

Good Old George Nabbed

Crowds of vacationers on the Isle of Wight cheered a convict, George Jackson, London jail-breaker, after police caught him. Women blew kisses from windows and cried "Good old George" and children waved.

While the search was on for him, he wrote a letter, found later in a hide-out he had occupied, saying: "I notice in the papers they are referring to 'terrorizing.' This gives the impression that I am going about threatening violence. It is not so. I have to eat, so I steal."

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Oct. 8.—Edmund Gilligan's latest novel, "I Name Thee Mara," a title taken from the Book of Ruth, will be released October 14. The jacket of the book, done by John McClellan, bears a painting of the Church of Our Lady of Good Voyage, in Gloucester, Mass. Also, in the October issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, Mr. Gilligan has a story entitled, "Miracle of Savie Island." He is now in the process of completing a novel on Savie Island, which will be made into a motion picture by 20th Century Fox.

The Public Health Nursing Committee's next regular clinic will be held on October 9 at the Health Center in Woodstock. There will be the regular weekly baby consultations under the supervision of Ann Cassidy, public health nurse. Also, a state representative will instruct members of the committee in the method of examining children's eyes. The consultation will start at 10 a. m. All persons interested are invited to attend.

Mrs. Baensch and family recently returned from Leipzig, Germany. They will move into their Woodstock home, the present site of the Nordkap restaurant, on October 15. Mr. Kovanni, proprietor of the Nordkap, has not as yet found any new location for his restaurant.

Mrs. Adolph Heckerth entered 30 friends at a buffet supper, given in honor of Mr. Heckerth's birthday, Saturday.

A daughter, Bonnie Kaye, was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Elwyn, Jr., October 2. The new baby's grandmother, Mrs. Bernice DeWells, of Norfolk, is coming to spend four weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Elwyn, in Woodstock. Sammy Wilson, who has been ill with infected glands, is reported to be slightly better. William West and sons, Bill and Don, attended the auto races in Goshen last Sunday.

Isles Have Quiz Kid

Felipe Brito Gonzales, aged five, bids fair to be the Quiz Kid of the Canary Isles. At his home in Santa Cruz de Tenerife, he gives almost immediate answers to such questions as "How many days are there in 38 years?" Or he works out in his head the answer when his schoolmaster points to a flock of goats passing the school and asks: "If each goat gives three liters daily, how much milk would the flock yield in a year?" Felipe is the eighth child in a working class family.

Taft's Criticism Is Forerunner of Nuremberg Trials Precipitating Long Debates Among Jurists of World

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 9.—Senator Taft's criticism of the Nuremberg trials, as being acts of "vengeance" administered under a new concept of law which was not in existence when the violations occurred, is the forerunner of a lengthy debate among jurists of various nations.

It is surprising how many diplomats here say there is something to the Ohio senator's viewpoint but it is surprising also how little the reasoning which lies behind the Nuremberg trials has been published.

On its face, any conquering nation has the right to punish the conquered for inhuman acts or violations of the laws of war. Customarily this has been done by military tribunals. Because the victims in this instance have chosen to set up a trial by the novel method of using civilian judges with civilian procedures does not mean that the right to punish those guilty of violations of international law is in itself novel.

Germany as a nation renounced aggressive war as "an instrument of national policy." This was written in the Kellogg-Briand treaties. Obviously when a government or a nation violates a treaty, it is violating international law. To say that there is no means of punishing a nation because its individual leaders are immune is to say that international law itself has no force behind it. Actually through-out history the theory of exacting punishment for violations of international law has long been upheld. These are sometimes referred to as "sanctions" or "reprisals" and take the form of seizure of property or of persons held guilty of the offense.

The United States government notified Pancho Villa in 1916 that Mexicans would be held personally accountable for misdeeds. Villa led a group of bandits across the Mexican boundary into New Mexico and massacred some American citizens. The late President Wilson sent an American expedition into Mexico to capture the bandit leader.

There are other instances in which wars or near-wars have been accompanied by notice to a leader or his group that he would be held accountable for their acts.

It will be recalled that Winston Churchill, as prime minister, sent a warning on the Nuremberg trials that some of the men at Nuremberg were not directly concerned with what are ordinarily termed as violations of the laws of war. It will be urged also that some of these men did not participate in the political events leading up to the war of aggression. The question turns, however, on acts of humanity and cruelty. Men who acquiesce in such crimes as the government of which they are a part are themselves guilty of the crimes.

Where individuals exercised independent judgment, and had no power to dissent, there has been no Nuremberg cases. Tendency to spare them severe punishment but the evidence shows that the men recently convicted did play a powerful role in the government and in the making of its policies. Hence they must be punished for having violated the Kellogg-Briand treaties which the German nation signed, along with the other nations of the world.

The murder of innocent women and children was a crime in international law long before Hitler was born. To say that the Hitlerites who were convicted at Nuremberg were tried on an ex post facto basis is to raise a technical quibble. International law is not the same thing. International law is based on custom and on the development over the years of rights asserted first by an individual nation or a group of nations. The Hitlerites were guilty of the crimes for which they have been tried.

The importance of the civilian trials lies in the fact that the evidence has been spelled out for posterity. The record has been made crystal clear. It was legally necessary to do this, but it was important the Kellogg-Briand treaties which condemn aggressive war, with a procedure which will be a warning for all times that individuals who commit a government are responsible for its acts.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By EDDY GILMORE (For Hal Boyle)

Stockholm (AP)—Right in the heart of this generally cool capital is a man who makes a living dispensing a combination of hot Swedish coffee and torrid American jazz. Both products are famous.

This pioneer in hot coffee-hot jazz is a big, dark man in his late thirties named Israelson. His tastes in jazz hot, to this correspondent at least, are superior to his judgment of coffee, but maybe it's the aftermath of war which affects the latter.

Israelson gives out from a spot called Cafe Flammen, which in English means the Flame Cafe. The coffee house is modern and clean as are most places in Stockholm. The furniture is upholstered in red leather. It has mirrored sides and over each table hangs a light concealed in a modernistic inverted coffee pot.

The jazz, emanating from some place in the vicinity of the kitchen, goes constantly from 9 o'clock in the morning until after midnight. If there's so much as a two or three minute intermission between records the customers complain. Israelson estimates he plays over two hundred records daily.

The records come from Israelson's associates in the United States. He won't trust the job to anyone else because he's firmly convinced that a large part of his success lies in their selection.

Cafe Flammen plays none of what is known to musicians as "Mickey Mouse music." He hasn't a Guy Lombardo, Sammy Kaye or Kay Kyser, in his entire collection.

He does have extensive selections from Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw, Glenn Miller and both the Dorseys, plus music from such small combinations as King Cole Trio, George Bruns, Miff Mable and Louis Armstrong.

The favorite vocalist with his coffee-jazz customers appears to be Billie Holiday, which may sound can tell you is pretty solid selecting.

Swedish musicians, or jazz enthusiasts, make up the bulk of most of the customers of Cafe Flammen, although the patrons include a number of journalists and men from the mechanical side of Stockholm's newspapers. One sees but few women there.

Cafe Flammen features no music from Swedish jazz bands—although the ones I've heard here, certainly are of a high standard. European bands go. One gets the impression that this is not directly because of Mr. Israelson's admiration for American jazz. Sweden has a musicians' union too, and it is suggested that trouble might lie in playing Swedish canned music, royalties and such with each turning of a record.

Moral for Politicians

October 7, 1946.

Editor, The Freeman:

Upon all sides—by the newspapers, or the radio, etc.—we are being urged to remember to register so that we may vote but, judging from my recent experience, it would appear that official Kingston, at least, doesn't care whether its citizens vote or not. Certainly, with the exception of the Board of Aldermen, the city officials to whom I applied were of no help.

Having moved to Kingston over a year ago and assuming that this must be nearly time to register, I telephoned city hall and asked time and place of registration. They seemed somewhat startled. They did not know in what ward I lived, nor name of my alderman, told me registration dates and referred me to the Board of Elections.

The Board of Elections seemed to be in even more of a fog—they did not know my ward; thought I might be the 10th or 12th. They did know the dates and hours of registration and gave them to me. Then I telephoned the Mayor's office. The Mayor's assistant didn't know the answers to my questions; seemed willing to let it at that, until I asked him if he didn't want me to vote. Thereupon he studied the map and came up with this pearl of wisdom: "You live in the 12th ward, 1st district." I demurred, saying that my next door neighbor had told me that I voted in the 11th ward. The mayor's assistant replied with great dignity that he had studied the map and was sure I lived in the 12th ward. He gave me the name of the 12th ward alderman, who assured me that I was not in his ward, but in the 11th ward. That made two answers alike, so with that information I think I'll be able to register properly.

A less persistent voter would have given up and so as so many do, just not bother to vote. I just happen to be one of those who consider my vote not only a right but a privilege and so, when I am qualified I vote, no matter what discouragements I meet.

Somewhere in this there is a moral for politicians. I leave it to them to figure it out.

Yours truly,

G. G. S. DODGE

THE WINNER GUILTY, TOO?

A leading Roman newspaper asks: "Who are the men pressing the trials at Nuremberg?" Answering its own question, it charges that the two principal defendants judging the guilty are those who were themselves cruellest among the Allies.

Obviously, the finger was pointed at the people who ordered the atom-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki without warning to civilians; and to the Red regime in Russia which has slaughtered and enslaved Germans with no less savagery as blood than the condemned Nazis at Nuremberg.

I believe the American people would like to see war criminals tried, but by a properly constituted court, not by a court self-constituted and bent on revenge. Has America been led into an age of revenge and cruelty by the left wing influence which is too revealing of the thing we fought and hated in the enemy?

Our past president was either the leader or the captive of the regime, as we see more and more, now that the truth is coming out.

For instance, he was willing or pressured to hand over to Stalin, for a price, his interest in two million Germans to be used as slaves for ten years—if they lived that long. The price was Stalin's promise of air bases in Siberia and help against Japan, though an American whose thinking was not clouded by Marxist sympathy or who was not under the thumb of the Morgenthau and Rosenmans and Hillmans might have seen that Russia needed us more than we needed Russia and that a threat to withhold lend-lease would have brought the desired cooperation. I think Abraham Lincoln would have said, "no slaves."

Britain's great Jewish premier, Disraeli, said there is always a government behind the government. I wonder if it was the government we see or the one we don't see which engineered the secret slavery deal and which set up Nuremberg, to make its own rules as it went, and to have the war criminals tried by men who already condemned them rather than by their own adequate German laws?

The argument that war criminals in Germany following World War I got away with little or no punishment, should have served only to remind us that we should insist on justice. We have now the additional evidence that German and Austrian people are asking for the privilege of trying their own war criminals.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, eager Nuremberg prosecutor, was disappointed that some of the defendants were acquitted, but he was pleased that "the principle was established making aggressive war crime punishable by death."

Do Justice Jackson's Nuremberg laws of justice apply only to the loser? Or are there men on the allied side who qualify for trial at Nuremberg?

It was nearly always the custom of ancient war lords to cut off the heads of the vanquished or parade them through town in a great fanfare and then throw them to the lions. Nuremberg, in the opinion of Justice Jackson, legalizes the procedure. Hereafter the winner of every war will have precedent for rigging up a Nuremberg court and hailing before it the losers. So complex are the bickerings and threats and taunts leading up to any war that the victor will have no trouble proving the vanquished guilty of aggression, especially since the court will have the historic privilege of making its own laws.

Is this our role in the world today? Have we no greatness of spirit, not even our traditional high sense of justice, to offer as an example? Can America lead the nations of the world—the victor and the vanquished—to peace and Atlantic Charter freedom by subscribing to the low moral principle of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth?

Most People Die From Fires in Their Own Homes

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy stated today that the majority of persons who die from fire perish right in their own homes.

"Man considers his home his castle," said the Chief, "and thinks it is the safest place. According to records of accidents, however, this is not so for many injuries and deaths take place in homes."

The same trend is evident in fire fatalities, according to Census Bureau figures compiled by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, showing that approximately 69 percent of all fire deaths are in homes. The annual toll of fire in all kinds of buildings is 10,000 persons. One-third of these deaths are among children under 15 years of age.

The Chief emphasized that the first steps toward making homes safer should be taken when a dwelling is put up. Many cities and towns now have a building code patterned after THE RECOMMENDED BUILDING CODE of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Where this is enforced, safer construction results.

"In general," continued Chief Murphy, "keeps roofs in good condition to prevent ignition of fires by flaming brands blown from other blazes. Build fire stops of incombustible material into the hollow spaces in walls at all floor levels to prevent the rapid spread of flames. An excellent safety feature is the installation of a ceiling in the cellar composed of plaster on metal or gypsum lath. A solidly constructed door at the head of the cellar stairs will also hold flames in check if kept tightly closed."

"Chimneys and fireplaces should be built in accordance with standard requirements and heating plants installed so that they are not a fire menace. Have all electrical wiring installed by an expert electrician, in accordance with the NATIONAL ELECTRICAL CODE. In existing homes, defects affecting fire safety can often be remedied at no great cost. For instance, the fire-resisting ceiling can be installed in cellars as directed."

Americans need to develop the habit of carefulness with common fire hazards found in most homes, asserted the Chief. They should not use inflammable cleaning fluids, such as gasoline, or try to repair the electrical system. Clean heating plants and chimneys of accumulations of soot annually. Spontaneous ignition fires may be prevented by disposing of oily rags, mops and paint-saturated clothing or waste at once, or by keeping them in a metal can with a tight cover.

"If fire occurs," continued the Chief, "the first minute is of great importance. Do not lose your head! Quick action with a fire extinguisher or even a pan of water many times will extinguish a small fire. Most important, do not delay sending an alarm to the fire department."

This is Fire Prevention Week and the Chief asks the head of each household to do everything in his power to protect his family from the possibility of fire bringing danger and injury, or even death, into his home.

Supervisors Vote County District Health Agency

setup will become effective on January 1, 1947.

Snow Removal Adopted

Another matter which is expected to have local taxpayers a considerable sum is that of snow removal. In the past the county equipment has been used to remove snow and ice during the winter months from state roads, and reimbursement from the state, up to $50 per mile has been made from state funds. Under a new law the county may clear state highways of snow and ice, erect and take down snow fences and carry out other winter highway cleaning operations, including sanding, etc., and the entire cost will be paid by the state under a contract agreement. The Board last night voted to enter into such an agreement with the State Department of Public Works. This work is done, as in the past under the direction of the county superintendent of highways and a monthly statement of costs is submitted to the state and payment is then made from state funds. Such items as bookkeeping and other incidental expenses accrued from the agreement will be included in the cost paid by the state.

Prior to adoption of a resolution authorizing entering into an agreement with the State Department of Public Works for the snow removal job in the county, Supervisor Keib asked if there was sufficient money available for this work. Chairman Murray stated that in the contract the state had inserted a figure "not to exceed $72,000" as the cost to be born by the state but he said additional funds would be voted by the legislature. Since the law was new there has been made available only $24,000 to carry on the work in the county up until the end of 1946, but he said the next legislature would make additional funds available. The contract entered into is for a three year period.

In the past the $50 per mile which the state paid for snow removal failed to meet the cost of snow removal on state highways in this county when a severe winter prevailed. Under the new system it is believed that the entire cost will be born by the state.

Asks Gate Be Erected

A request was made by Ben Fein and his brother, owners of the Clermont Hall building, adjoining the court house, for the installation of a gate through the fence which has been erected by the county between the premises. It was pointed out that there was no way to gain access to the street from the rear of the building after stores in the building were closed. A communication was also received from Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the fire department calling attention to the fact that a fire escape led to the rear yard of the building but there was no means of exit from that small yard. Chief Murphy stated in a letter that this matter was being called to the attention of the Board but he was not demanding action, simply calling attention to the condition and suggesting that a gate would give exit to the street. The matter was referred to the Committee on County Auditor.

A report was received from the State Department of Correction on an inspection of the Ulster county jail on June 20. The report was highly complimentary and only two recommendations were made, that smuggle-proof visiting cells be installed and that the remaining old niche toilets be replaced as soon as possible. All records were in order, the jail clean and many improvements formerly recommended had been taken care of the report stated.

On motion of Supervisor Harry Snyder the sum of $1232 was refunded to John J. Schick of town of Esopus for taxes which had been erroneously paid.

Assistance Is Voted

Additional assistance in the investigation department of the Department of Public Welfare was voted because of the great increase in number of cases. Three additional case workers at $1,500 per year plus the 10 per cent high cost of living bonus, were authorized.

Supervisors Battenfeld, H. Snyder and Bell of the towns of Hurley, Marlborough and Olive, offered a resolution that the City of New York be requested to reconstruct 14 miles of the South Ashokan Boulevard around the Ashokan reservoir. The resolution stated that the road was narrow, contained many dangerous curves and was worn out. Under the Water Act, New York city is responsible for construction and maintenance of this route. It was moved that the city be requested to reconstruct the road and widen it out to 20 feet, that dangerous curves be eliminated and the three supervisors were authorized to contact and confer with New York city officials relative to the work. Adopted.

A report of the Tax Arrears Committee was received and the Board voted for adoption of the report. This was in regard to the recent sale of property which the county had acquired over a period of time at tax sales. Recently a public auction was held at which time 122 parcels were offered for sale in four towns. The committee reported that sale of parcels totaling $6,912.50 should be affirmed and that the bids on Parcels 88, 111, 121, 72 and 82 should be rejected as insufficient. This includes three brick yards in the town of Ulster which did not bring sufficient money in the opinion of the committee. In addition to the money received at the auction, there were several owners who came in and paid up the taxes, penalties and interest charges to bring the total amount netted on the properties offered at auction to $8,271.42. The Board voted to accept the report of the committee, affirm the sales except those five which are recommended rejected, and that quit claim deeds be given to the purchasers of properties acquired at the sale. Adopted.

Several parcels which were not bid in were referred back to the committee for further consideration.

A bill for $138.25 being 2 per cent of the total sales price, was authorized paid to J. H. Sweet who acted as auctioneer at the sale.

The Board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Price Lids Removed

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The O.P.A. removed price lids today from rubber tires for lawn mowers, tires bus lines rent on a mileage basis, and used bicycle tires. Ceiling, still cover most passenger car and truck tires which remain on the scarce list. Removed as unimportant to living or business costs are ceilings on photo finishing and printing materials, bathing shower caps, wooden tubs, buckets, kettles and pans, cation glue and miscellaneous chemical, drug and rubber items.

In Hollywood, one man was injured and three were arrested as picketing extended to Columbia studios.

There were several continuing strikes. These included the work-stoppage by 1,000 A.F.L. bakers in Washington asking 20 per cent wage hikes and the bus and electric railroad strikes in Chicago which have interrupted the normal transportation facilities for some 400,000 persons daily. Higher wages are the main issues in both disputes.

Friday, Saturday Are Final Registration Days

Friday and Saturday are the last two days of registration for the November election, and in order to equal or surpass the registration figures of 1945, when 12,473 voters were registered, the registration will have to be heavy. Registration on the third day in 1945 totaled 3,080, while on the fourth day it totaled 5,533. This year registration in Kingston on the first two days exceeded the first two days in 1945 by 732. The city's registration for the first two days this year was 4,572, as compared with 3,840 in 1945.

Friday the polls will open at 10 a. m. and close at 10 p. m., while on Saturday, the last day, the polls open at 7 a. m. and close at 10 p. m.

National Employ The Physically Handicapped Week

The following information has been received from the U. S. Veterans Administration office above Greenwald's shoe store, 286 Fair street, Kingston.

In a statement marking the beginning of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, David P. Page, Acting Deputy Veterans Administrator for New York, yesterday pointed to the employment records of 1,132 disabled veterans in the Veterans Administration throughout the state of New York as "proof that it's good business to employ the disabled."

Mr. Page said, "The Veterans Administration is one of the largest employers of physically handicapped persons in the state. A review of work records of disabled veterans employed by the V.A. reveals they are among the most efficient, conscientious and dependable of our employees."

Although practically all disabled employees are veterans, "the Acting Deputy Administrator continued, "the same high quality of performance on the job is being demonstrated by non-veteran handicapped persons in private employment throughout the nation. The physically handicapped are proving beyond question that it is good business to employ the disabled."

Charles C. Adams, Manager of the Albany Regional Office, pointed out that nearly 100 disabled veterans were employed by his regional and field offices in the 20 New York State counties. Adams said that the V.A.'s faith in the work of disabled veterans was reflected by the high percentage of disabled veterans in key posts.

He reported that out of the 38 contact representatives assigned to the Albany regional area, 19 were disabled veterans, many of whom have over a 50 per cent disability. "The work performed by our contact representatives is highly important because they deal directly with the veterans," Adams said. He pointed out that by employing disabled veterans as contact representatives, the Veterans Administration not only secured efficient and dependable workers, but men who "seem to possess an inherent understanding of veterans."

To illustrate the manner in which disabled veterans apply themselves to their jobs and careers, Adams cited the cases of two men employed in his regional office and at the Albany contact office, 112 State street. He said they were typical of the many disabled veterans employed in these offices.

One of the disabled veterans who served as a platoon sergeant in the 100th Division was wounded by a land mine near Heilbronn, Germany, which resulted in the loss of his left leg. Since discharge from the Army, he gets around on an artificial limb, and has to make periodic visits to his physician.

Although he had little previous work experience before hired by the Veterans Administration, he has within six months become a contact representative. In order to equip himself for this responsible position, he took a specialized course in Washington, D. C., which not only trained him to work as a contact representative, but made him an authority on prosthetic appliances. Now, he has the duties of a full time contact representative, in addition to serving as an advisor to veterans on prosthetic appliances.

Adams cited the case of a disabled veteran who works in the Albany contact office as evidence that disabled veterans can learn quickly, and apply themselves with unusual diligence. This veteran was twice wounded in the Southwest Pacific. On the last encounter with Jap bullets, he was severely wounded in the right leg, which had to be amputated as a result of shrapnel wounds.

When he came to the Veterans Administration to apply for a job, he had no experience in office work. Although he has been with the V.A. for less than a year, he is now responsible for keeping complicated office records, and screening veterans prior to their interviews with contact representatives.

The world's record for long non-stop railway runs is held by England with five daily runs of 300 miles, ten covering more than 200 miles, and 42 more than 150 miles.

Sylvia Lippman Is Bride

Of William Cohn, Ashokan
Miss Sylvia Lippman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Lippman, 69 Newkirk avenue, was united in marriage to William Cohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cohn of Ashokan Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Episcopate Hotel. Rabbi D. Ziger of Agudas Achim officiated. The bride wore a powder blue dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Frank Cohn, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, as matron of honor wore a gold dress with brown accessories and a corsage of tall roses. Both the mother of bride and mother of the bridegroom, wore black ensembles with corsages of red roses. Frank Cohn was best man for his brother.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Cohn left for a wedding trip to New York city. They will make their home in Ashokan where the bridegroom owns a general store.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School. The bridegroom attended Kingston High School and has recently returned from three years in the infantry, one year of which he served in Europe.

Ulster Garden Club Reports on First Year Of Work at Landscaping Senate House Garden

The report of the work in landscaping the garden at the Senate House was given at the annual meeting of Ulster Garden Club Tuesday afternoon as the group met with Mrs. Leon Chambers in Stone Ridge. Mrs. William A. Van Benschoten of West Park, who is chairman of the planning committee for this project, gave a detailed report of the year's work. The Ulster Garden Club began its project at the Senate House grounds last October and plans to continue probably for the next four or five years in order to arrange the plantings in keeping with the style of an old fashioned garden. The planning committee, including Mrs. Van Benschoten, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. G. Wallace Codwise and Miss Katherine Hasbrouck, has been working in cooperation with the representatives of the State Department.

Nicholas Pfeiffer, landscape gardener of this city, is doing the actual work for the club. During the past year there have been planted 16 rhododendrons, five dogwood trees, 50 ivy plants for the walls, a hemlock hedge on the Fair street side of the land, 12 hemlock trees, white phlox, zinca minor, narcissus bulbs and hosta. Some of the shrubs and evergreen have been removed and some have been transplanted. The club is attempting to arrange the planting so as not to disrupt any large portion of the garden at any one time.

Other annual reports of the officers and committee chairmen were read at Tuesday's meeting. Election of officers took place and Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton was chosen president for the coming year. Others elected were Miss Isabel Overbargh, first vice president; Mrs. Leon Chambers, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Arnold, secretary, and Miss Margaret Rising, treasurer.

Three new members were elected to the board of gardeners. Mrs. Allan Hanstein, Mrs. Clement Chase and Mrs. E. Clark Reed. Others serving on the board include Mrs. Harry Pearson, Mrs. Howard A. Lewis and Mrs. John W. Matthews.

Large Audience Sees Ballet Performance

More than 1,000 children and few adults attended the performance of "Daniel Boone" presented by the Edwin Strawbridge Ballet company at the Municipal Auditorium, Tuesday afternoon, under the auspices of Kingston Junior League. This was probably one of the largest gatherings of children ever held in the city.

The play was presented in authentic costumes and excitement grew among the youthful audience with each appearance of the Indians in full battle regalia. At one time in the play, Daniel Boone and his companion were taken captive and several ritual dances were performed. The escape of the two captives was most thrilling for the young people as was the final scene inside the Boonesboro stockade as the Indians besieged the settlement.

Between the acts the pianist played several piano selections, one the popular "Flight of the Bumblebee," which many of the children recognized as the theme song for The Green Hornet radio program. Mr. Strawbridge also entertained by explaining some of the Indian sign language.

Folk tunes and drums were used for the music. As always with the Strawbridge troupe, the story is presented in story book fashion completely satisfying the children.

Markowitz-Levy

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Blanche Markowitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Levy, 3 Rogers street, to Seymour Markowitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Markowitz, Brooklyn. The ceremony was performed September 28 at Jacobson Manor 449 Easter Parkway, New York.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin made with sweetheart neckline trimmed with pearls and long train. Her finger-ring veil was attached to a Mary Queen of Scots headpiece with pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a Bible with white orchid and streamers of gladioli and bouvardia. Miss Blanche Lavin of Morristown, N. J., as maid of honor for her cousin, wore a gold gown with long forest green gloves, forest green Juliet cap and carried an old fashioned bouquet of red roses and baby's breath.

Miss Marilyn Black, niece of the bride, and Miss Susan Barran of Brooklyn, cousin of the bridegroom, as flower girls wore matching gowns of yellow net with matching headpieces and carried old fashioned bouquets of yellow tearoses and corn flowers. The bride's mother wore a black gown with long black gloves. The bridegroom's mother wore a black gown. Both had corsages of orchids.

Charles Speisman, cousin of the bridegroom, acted as best man. A wedding dinner was served to the guests immediately following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Markowitz left for a wedding trip to Canada and New England. The bride wore a Canton brown suit with green alligator shoes and America.

In 1945, Americans had more eggs, dairy products, citrus fruits and vegetables per person than ever before.

THAT TIPPING QUESTION

A letter asks: "Won't you please give some advice about tips at a resort hotel run on the American plan? This angle of tipping seems more bothersome than merely paying the restaurant check. The particular situation I have in mind is this: Two people rate $150 a week, including meals. Would you tip at each meal, daily or weekly, and how much?"

I never like to give definite rules about tips because so much depends upon service received and also on the locality. At a guess I would say that you give $5 to your waiter a week and $2 to the chambermaid. This, however, is not supposed to be a hard and fast amount.

Invitations in Consecutive Order
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary to give and accept invitations in consecutive order? It seems to me more commercial than hospitable.

Answer: The "invitation for invitation" applies only to those whose acquaintance is formal as well as new. Friends never keep any such account. Naturally when Mary and John invite Jim and Jane time and again, they may expect the latter to invite them to something sometime.

Butler's Gloves

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a man who acts as houseman, butler and chauffeur. Because of his numerous tasks, his hands are rather rough-looking for waiting on table. So I have asked him to wear white gloves at these times, much against his protest. He says none but footmen wear gloves.

Answer: It is true that a butler who does no heavy work has no excuse for not having his hands smooth and his fingernails well cared for. But if a man's fingers are indelibly stained he must wear white cotton gloves to wait on table.

What are the exceptions to the "10 per cent of a bill" tip? The answer is found in Mrs. Post's leaflet, "General Suggestions on Tipping," obtainable for a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

New York Council Asks President Call Emergency

Resolution Asks Seizure of All Meat in U. S., Fair Distribution to Follow

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The New York City Council has called on President Truman to declare an immediate state of emergency, seize all meat in the country and distribute it fairly.

In a resolution, adopted with only two members of the 21-man group dissenting, the council yesterday charged that meat industry with creating a meat famine in "open defiance to the American people," adding that a "small segment of the population is depriving all of the people of the United States of a much-needed food, thereby endangering our health."

The resolution said that "such action shows contempt for our government and its laws and disregards the well-being of the American people."

Louisville Police Judge Uses Model Autos to Advantage

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP)—The handling of traffic cases here is streamlined and modernized now—but to do it Police Judge Protem Guy Shearer bought seven cars for the city "out of his own pocket."

Shearer had an idea that he would like to hear the cases with more speed so he went shopping for several hours and finally found the seven automobiles he needed—in a dime store for ten cents each.

The toy cars are used to illustrate the testimony of witnesses in traffic mishaps.

"I have spent as much as an hour and half listening to conflicting evidence in a minor traffic case," Judge Shearer explained. "Now we can clear them up in a few minutes."

Used with the cars are six maps showing various types of intersections in the city. The maps were drawn on large cardboard placards to scale with the models—one-fourth of an inch to a foot.

When a case is called, a map covering the particular type of scene where the accident occurred is set up and witnesses are asked to place the model cars where the street-size vehicles were at the time of the mishap.

But that isn't all. The enterprising police judge also bought toy people and trees which play an important part in the plan.

The trees are placed at intersections corners to add realism to the scene, and the persons involved in the accident are put in the positions they occupied.

"By doing this," Shearer explains, "it is made clear in the minds of the court and the witnesses just what happened and eliminates confusion."

About the plan, the judge cautions: "I don't want anyone coming around traffic court...and think we are playing with toys. This really speeds up all the cases."

Ives Suggests New Committee to Give Industry 'Go' Sign

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Ives M. Ives, Republican nominee for U. S. Senator, urges creation of a non-partisan joint Congressional committee "to straighten out the present mess of regulation and restriction" which he says is "hamstringing" all approach to industrial peace.

Ives advanced the proposal last night in a statewide broadcast in which he blamed President Truman's administration for the wave of strikes in the nation since the close of the war.

One proposal such a committee should consider immediately, Ives contended, is the establishment of a national mediation board which would coordinate all federal mediation and conciliation services.

In addition, he said, there should be increasing use of voluntary arbitration, which he termed a "harmless" step along the road to "Truman's administration, Ives said, has shown itself 'woefully ignorant' of the causes of and remedies for strikes."

The chief cause, he asserted, is "the failure of the national administration to develop a mature, constructive, stable national labor policy which both labor and management can respect and trust."

State Police Patrol Section of Norwalk

Norwalk, Conn., Oct. 8 (AP)—State police patrolled the Norwalk section of this city today after a six-week-old jurisdictional dispute between rival unions at the Norwalk Tire and Rubber Company erupted into violence that injured three persons and caused the arrest of six others.

State police were ordered into the area by State Police Commissioner Edward J. Hickey yesterday when the move was undertaken yesterday at the request of Norwalk authorities who reported "that there have been disturbances beyond the control of local authorities."

Observers said yesterday's violence resulted from an A.F.L. picket line thrown about the plant in an effort to bar C.I.O.-organized workers from entering.

The United Mine Workers (A.F.L.) was recently displaced by the C.I.O.-United Rubber Workers as sole bargaining agent for the plant's 600 production employees after an N.L.R.B.-supervised election.

Wicks Company Gives Signal Demonstration

A group of seven members of the Binnewater Fire Department were the guests of the Kingston Fire Department Tuesday evening, when the delegation was given a demonstration of the air horn at the A. H. Wicks Engine Co. fire house on Foxhall avenue.

The demonstration was in charge of Assistant L. Miller, superintendent of the city's fire alarm system, and Captain A. Foster Winfield of Wicks Engine Co.

The operation of the horn was explained by Superintendent Miller, at the close of the sounding of the siren, Captain Winfield escorted the members of the delegation to various sections of the city, where the horn could be plainly heard.

The Binnewater firemen expressed themselves as well pleased with the horn's operation, and it is expected that a similar horn will be purchased for the Binnewater Fire Department for use as a fire signal.

The horn at the Wicks fire house was installed six years ago. It is electrically operated.

Arguments Are Heard

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Arguments attacking and upholding the validity of the Westchester Tolls Act, providing for collection of tolls on the Hutchinson River and Saw Mill River Parkways, were heard yesterday by the Court of Appeals. The state's highest tribunal began hearing testimony in an action, instituted by two members of the Automobile Club of New York who asked the act be invalidated on grounds it violates federal and state constitutions and is contrary to the Federal Highway-Aid Act which prohibits tolls on roads built in part by federal funds. The Court of Appeals was expected to follow usual procedure and reserve decision.

Boat Is Found, All Safe

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Coast Guard said yesterday a 34-foot sailboat, reported missing in New England waters with three men aboard, had been found off Port Judith, R. I., and all aboard were safe. A relative of the three men reported them missing when their boat was not heard from after leaving Onset, Mass., for Freeport, Long Island, last Saturday. The Coast Guard said a rescue craft from the Port Judith lifeboat station found the boat becalmed near the entrance to Narragansett Bay.

O'Neil Play Opens Tonight in New York

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Eugene O'Neill returns to Broadway tonight with his first new play since 1934.

Interest in the New York, "The Iceman Cometh," is so high that 10 out-of-town critics and seven correspondents of foreign newspapers will be among first night audience.

Three times winner of the Pulitzer prize and holder of the Nobel literature prize, O'Neill has written a four act play which requires a late afternoon opening and a dinner intermission.

The play is being presented by the Theatre Guild. Its cast of 19 features James Barton, Dudley Digges, Carl Benton Reid and Nicholas Joy. Robert Edmond Jones designed the production.

Monsignor Assails Euthanasia Plan As Against Nature

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robert E. McCormick, presiding judge of the Ecclesiastical Tribunal of the Archdiocese of New York, today denounced voluntary euthanasia as "contrary to religious, moral and natural laws."

In a sermon prepared for the annual red Mass for the Catholic lawyers of Westchester county at Immaculate Conception Church, Msgr. McCormick opposed the proposed bill to legalize "mercy killings" and asserted that the motive of voluntary euthanasia was self-destruction.

His remarks came less than two weeks after 54 prominent Protestant clergymen in New York signed a statement prepared by the Euthanasia Society of America, Inc., approving legalized euthanasia for "persons desiring it, who are suffering from incurable, fatal and painful disease."

The statement said: "We wish to state, in our opinion, voluntary euthanasia, under the circumstances mentioned above, should not be regarded as contrary to the teachings of Christ or to the principles of Christianity."

Among those listed as signing the statement were Dr. Henry Sloan Coffin, president-emeritus of Union Theological Seminary; the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor-emeritus of the Riverside Church; the Rev. Dr. George Paul T. Sargent, of St. Bartholomew's Church; the Rev. Dr. Guy Emery Shipley, editor of the Churchman and the Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman of Christ Church.

Catholic Official Cites Reasons for Taking Stand; Fearful of State Tyranny

"How any ministers of the Christian Protestant denominations can support legalized voluntary euthanasia is beyond comprehension because it is definitely against the natural law, the innate moral code, the teachings in the old testament of the Jewish law, and the teachings of Christ."

"That suicide and murder are against the very law of nature is evident from the fact that God, who created the human being, gave to him a highly-developed nervous system which instinctively acts immediately to ward off or escape any danger to life."

"That suicide and murder are against the innate moral code of all peoples is manifest in the fact that the axiom 'self-preservation' is the first law of nature' has been recognized from the beginning of time in the law of all nations as being a justifying cause for killing an unjust aggressor."

"Acts of Dominion"

"The reason that suicide and murder are condemned by God in the old law and Christ in the new is that destruction is an act of dominion, and a man does not have dominion either over his own life or that of any other person."

Msgr. McCormick said "it is evident that the protagonist of voluntary euthanasia will eventually try to bring about legalized involuntary euthanasia for imbeciles and the hopelessly insane, who are not legally capable of petitioning for voluntary euthanasia, and perhaps even habitual criminals."

"If the complete program of getting rid of undesirables should be legalized, then we are face to face with totalitarianism and state tyranny," he said.

Maroon Eleven Gets Shake-Up for DUSO League Opener Friday

Kitsos and Jones Work With Varsity Team During Drill

Bill Crosby, Back, Is Used on Line to Get More Defensive Power for Middle Contest

Coach Willard Durke's determination to find a winning combination on his Kingston High School football team is so utterly thorough that he is going so far as to use a regular second string backfield man in one of the guard positions in order to strengthen his club.

That was Durke's move Tuesday afternoon at municipal stadium as the Maroon and White coach put his charges through another long drill with emphasis on defense. He had at one time Bill Crosby, second string back, filling in for Lou Fuoco at the left guard slot during a long scrimmage session.

Using Crosby on the line is just one of Durke's alternating moves which he hopes will give Kingston the needed defensive strength for Friday night's big DUSO League opener at the uptown stadium against Middletown.

"Our defense is really weak," Coach Burke commented Tuesday before his warriors started on another extensive drill. "Offensively, we should do alright but the defensive angle is still our main fault."

The Maroon pilot hasn't kept this discrepancy a secret either. For the better part of the afternoon the Maroon varsity was on the defensive during a scrimmage as the second stringers carried the ball.

New Backfield Changes

Remembering the holocaust at Highland a couple of weeks ago, Coach Burke has installed Bill Kitsos, a hard-running back; and Buddy Jones, a swivel-hipped running mate, in the backfield. The two have replaced Bill Blume and Tommy McGrane. Yesterday McGrane was used with the second string eleven while Blume patrolled the sidelines hoping for a chance to see action.

During the scrimmage session Tuesday the varsity lined up with Ed Weaver and Ed McCordie, ends; "Babe" Riggins and Charlie

Friday—Chicago at Brooklyn (night), Miami at Buffalo (night)

Saturday—Cleveland at New York (night), San Francisco at Los Angeles (night).

Bouton, tackles; Lou Fuoco and Harry Barnhart, guards; and Harry Koch, center. Later, Crosby replaced Fuoco and Joe Carroll took over for Barnhart. The junior varsity squad had Warren Hyde and Joe Albany, ends; Joe Esposito and Chris Lay, tackles; Chick Carpio and Fiske, guards; and Don Laudlaw, center. The backfield had Carl Carpio, Joe "Red" Gardeski, Tom McGrane and Stan Janeczek.

Team Puzzles Coach

Before the Maroon griders started practice Tuesday Burke let down his hair and confided that his team puzzled him. "There's something here which puzzles me I just can't put my finger on the trouble," he said. "You see," he continued, "the boys look like pros during practice. They know their plays, how to block and everything else. Yet, when they get into scrimmage they seem to be puzzled about everything concerned with football. They forget all about adept blocking and the little things which go towards rounding out a winning football team."

Bob Gheer, rangy end from Highland Falls, is still on the injured list with a bad leg. He has been out about two weeks. One other injured warrior, George Flemings, has returned to action again after being on the shelf for a few days. Flemings, a backfield candidate, has a strapped leg but is eager for work. He was laid low with a bruised muscle. A few others—McGrane, Koch and Carroll also have leg injuries of the minor nature.

Boatmen to Meet Thursday Evening

Commodore Glennon Asks Full Attendance

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Power Boat Association will be held Thursday evening starting at 8 o'clock at the club rooms.

All boat owners are urged to attend this vital session to make preparations for the hauling and storing of their boats for the winter season.

Commodore John Glennon requests all members to be on hand promptly at 8 o'clock so as to have ample time for an entertainment period after the business end of the program is concluded.

Several sound films from the Gray Marine Company and also movies of the local outboard races held this year on the Rhinecliff are expected to be shown during the social hour.

Freeman League

Team 1 continued on its rampaging ways in the Freeman League Monday night at the "Y" alleys by whacking out three straight victories over Team 2 to increase its league led to two full games over the second place team.

Tom LaPort, anchor for the first placers, cracked out a 493 triple for Team 1. His single of 178 also was high for the team. John Haas collected the high single of the match with 160.

Team 3 lost ground by dropping one game to the cellar-dwelling Team 4 club. Rolling games of 723 in the first two, Team 3 won handily but dropped the nightcap 679-561 in one of those things.

Warren Simmons' 443 triple was high in the match while Walt "Shoe" Scharp banged out a high solo count of 166 for Team 4.

Team 1 leads the race at this writing with a record of 10 wins and two losses. Team 3 is second with 8-4.

Independent League

After a year and a half, the shoe was finally lodged on the other foot in the Independent Bowling League matches at the Central Rec alleys Monday night. The miraculous thing of it all was that George "Ziggy" Dawkins and his high-riding Stone Ridge Firemen were finally thumped out of first place when Martin's Market came to life and rapped out three victories over the league leaders.

Martin's three wins not only helped them to get out of the cellar position but at the same time kicked Stone Ridge out of the top berth for the first time in a year and a half. Firemen's defeats, coupled with Callanan's three victories over Vogels, shoved Callanans into first place with a one game lead.

Leading the onslaught on Stone Ridge Monday was Bill Davis, who cracked out a blistering 601 triple with games of 191, 176 and 234. Jack Hartman hit a 223 and 560 three-timer. Jack Dawkins rolled 515 and Roland Post came on with a 514. Schryver's 523 topped the losers.

While Stone Ridge was being kicked around, Callanans were winning all three from Vogels' Dairy Farm. Froehlicher, the new league leaders while L. Van Alstyne and F. Schuck came through with 535 and 523 triples. Oyv Van Alstyne picked up 508. Ernie Vogel's 541 paced the dairy-men in defeat.

Despite a neat 606 triple by R. Halbert Jump's Market lost a pair to Wilber Coal. Halbert put together 219, 219 and 168 for his gaudy series. Ralph Neville banged a 566 and Tom Costello hit 501. Ward DuBois' 586 paced the coalition. Hayes with 542, Wilber's 529, Osmer's 518 and Brown's 505 rounded out the victors' offensive parade.

Cole's Market took two from Beichters with Parslow hitting 504. Ed Ougheltree's 192 single was high in the match. Kubick collected 502 for the losers.

$700 Profit Realized by K.A.A. From Brooklyn Dodger Game

Sum Will Be Used Solely for Promotion of Sports for Youth of Kingston

A net profit of $700.68 was realized by the Kingston Athletic Association from the ball game played between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Hudson Valley Juniors at the municipal stadium September 3. President Thomas Davitt announced at a meeting of the local organization Tuesday evening.

"That sum is a clear profit for our young organization," President Davitt commented at the K.A.A. Club last night and I have already turned the money over to the project committee which will use it for organized sports for the youth of the city."

The September 3 contest was one of the biggest baseball attractions in Kingston for some time when, through the cooperation of Fred Davi, three New York Yankee ball players came on hand as special guests. The K.A.A. members, including the DiMaggio, Charlie Keller and George "Smuffy" Stirmweiss attended the game as guests of Mr. Davi and helped in the pre-game ceremonies.

According to the rules laid down by the K.A.A., the sum realized from that game will be placed into a special fund solely for the use of the project committee. That group includes Warren Smith, chairman; Bernard Culliton, Louis Schuler, Harry Edson, John M. Cassin, G. Warren Elias, Dr. Francis O'Connor and Alex Fuhrman.

Will Give Trophy

Members who attended Tuesday's meeting also went on record in favor of awarding a trophy to the winning school in the annual City Olympics. A unanimous vote was taken for the measure.

Although plans are still indefinite, the K.A.A. also approved of an annual dinner for club members which will be held every January. Charles Tiano suggested such a night when he offered a motion that the organization plan a big program which would be known as an annual affair at which time some celebration from the sports world would be on hand as guest speaker. This motion was suggested with the proposal that players of the Hudson Valley Junior Baseball Team would be invited.

K.A.A. members also approved a resolution Tuesday evening calling for regular meetings of the organization to be held every third Wednesday of each month.

President Davitt stated before the meeting that a report would be made by the new by-laws committee at the next session.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

Hamilton, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Colgate's Red Raiders, mindful of the aerial attack that led to a grid victory over Cornell last year, are touching up a potential passing threat for Saturday's clash with the Big Red at Ithaca.

Coach Andy Kerr had Bruff McQuade firing passes in practice yesterday as the Raiders readied themselves for the first round of the upstate Big Three championship. McQuade paced the aerial attack that led to Cornell's downfall a year ago.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Bob Dean of Bloomington, Ind., whose passes checked against Army, has moved into the quarterback slot on the Cornell eleven and may start in that post when the Big Red meets Colgate Saturday.

The Cornell backfield was shifted yesterday by Coach Ed McQuade. Norm Dawson, Oak Park, Ill., remained at right halfback but Frank Bradley, Ridgewood, N. Y., moved to first string left half and Wally Kretz, Amityville, to fullback.

In the Rough

By Charlie Tiano

With Roy Vogt's thrilling triumph over Watts Bailey in the Wiltwyck final, the respective club champions of the city have been crowned for the 1946 season.

Vogt defeated a determined challenger in Bailey, who carried him 19 holes for a hard earned victory. On the basis of handicaps, Vogt should have been a heavy favorite. But such was not the case among the railbirds. They knew Bailey as an experienced and determined campaigner. The final result confirmed such opinion. Bailey was beaten but certainly not overwhelmed.

The fact that the match required nearly four hours indicated that both players were making every shot count when the chips were down. Vogt's approach was stolid, phlegmatic and he took plenty of time on every stroke. An opponent less composed than Bailey might have blown sky high at Vogt's steady, relentless deliberation on some shots, but Bailey had his game and disposition under control all the way. Vogt is a tough man to beat any time and it requires plenty of competitive nerve to stand with him when he's at the peak of his game and taking his good old time on each shot.

We reiterate a desire to see Vogt and Dr. Fred Holcombe, Jr., the Twaalfskill champion, engage in a 36-hole playoff for the out and out city champion. The match could be played on one weekend, 18 holes at each course. We feel it would attract considerable interest among the golfing gentry and establish a precedent for determining the title annually in lieu of a city open tournament.

Of Men and Sports: The following suggestion is offered by a steady boxing patron: "Have Sam Riber announce how the judges voted on any split decision in the main event. This system is used in professional boxing and is extremely popular with the cauliflower addicts. It adds color to the card and sends the disgruntled patrons home cussing the particular judge who happened to disagree with their judgment. Everyone is happier that way. . . . Newburgh area football followers have four good reasons to give the Sunday sports pages more than a cursory glance. . . . Dick Scott, of Highland Falls, plays center for Navy and is rated one of the best pivots in the nation. . . . Johnny Dillon is varsity center at Syracuse. . . . Ed Politi performs at end for Columbia's Lions, while Ralph Petrillo is a backfield ace at Harvard. . . . The latter trio are former Newburgh Free Academy and All-DUSO luminaries."

Another "Hod" Spaulding golf story substantiated by witnesses. . . . "Hod" took three Mulligans on No. 4 at Wiltwyck and then smashed his driver in half. . . . Such temperament! . . . Too bad the "hole-in-one" dog was not around to help. . . . Gordon Fitzgerald has been taking a shellacking from Judge Harry Schrick on tight selections on the last two cards. . . . "I don't concede the judge any superiority in picking winners," lamented Gordon. "It's just a co-incidence that the wrong fighters park in my corner."

"Bo" Gill has never been regarded as a purist by his working press colleagues, so when the Newburgh News sports editor douses his sports page with sulphuric quotes you can be assured the recent Walden-Newburgh football game in the Hudson Valley League was quite a fiasco.

Referring to the debacle, Gill said: "Yesterday's brawl at Walden must be corrected if the league managers want to save the new circuit. If we are to have fights, let's bill the attractions as such and not as football games."

Continuing in spades, Gill says: "President Johnny Law should call in the managers of the Hudson Valley League and inform them that fines will be imposed on players for future brawls. . . . And repeated offenses should lead to nothing short of suspension."

"Players who cannot keep their heads," Gill added, "should have some measures taken against them. . . . It is not safe for anyone to be around where hot-headed fans and players want to fight. . . . Let's have some fines, some suspensions and some arrests of those fans who partake of too much 'fire water' at sporting events."

Virgilio-Foster Top Poughkeepsie Card on Thursday

CARMINE VIRGILIO

Albany's Jimmy Foster, who boasts of two decisions over George "Babyface" Decker, is the opponent of Carmine Virgilio in Poughkeepsie, Thursday night, in the feature bout of a card at Lincoln Center.

Foster, who claims it is impossible to get a shot at the Schenectady boy he defeated more than a year ago, will be content with a win over Virgilio. "If I take Carmine, I'll be satisfied. Maybe I can get Decker back in the ring again and prove I can beat him despite the reputation he has."

Virgilio scored two victories over Decker in Kingston. Thursday's bouts will be the first in Poughkeepsie since long before the war, and indications are that there will be a crowd on hand for the fight attractions.

In addition to the main bout, the card is:

Paul "Kid" Hawks, Beacon, vs. Eddie Morton, Albany, welterweights.

Mickey Starr, Poughkeepsie, vs. Sammy Spadaro, Albany, bantamweights.

Billy Hawks, Beacon, vs. Dave Hinkley, Poughkeepsie, middleweights.

Willie Smith, Poughkeepsie, vs. Johnny Rowland, Albany, lightweight.

Tony Centorani, Wappingers Falls, vs. Ike Williams, Albany, welterweights.

Tony Sousa, Peekskill, vs. Johnny Chaplain, Albany, lightweight.

Rose Bowl Plan Is Being Voted By Nine Members

Negative Votes Expected to Plan: Illinois Has Already Said 'No' to Proposition

Chicago, Oct. 9 (AP)—A five-year contract, whereby the western conference would gain unprecedented prestige as well as lush cash returns by controlling the selection of teams to meet the Pacific-coast representative in the Rose Bowl, is being put to a vote for rejection or approval by the nine conference members.

Ohio State, Iowa and Indiana were reported unofficially to favor the post-season football arrangement with Michigan a possibility. The only definite action, however, has been taken by the Illinois faculty senate which voted disapproval. Illinois probably will be joined on the negative side by Minnesota and possibly Purdue. There is no hint from Northwestern or Wisconsin, although the former voted no when Ohio State sought to play in the Rose Bowl in 1944.

The faculty-committees governing athletics have been asked by the Big Nine faculty committee to decide the question and most of them are expected to call meetings within the next two weeks. If the vote is favorable the Rose Bowl tieup could become effective in ample time for the game next New Year's day.

The contract, if approved, would embody these provisions:

It would be a five-year agreement between the two conferences.

Each conference will designate its representative team.

No school would be compelled to participate.

No conference members would participate more than once in three years.

During the first three years only a western conference university would participate and for the remaining two years any university designated by the big nine could be named (thus Notre Dame, Michigan State and Marquette could represent the mid-west if the conference so desired. Notre Dame, which follows closely Big Nine standards, has made one appearance in the Rose Bowl, beating Stanford 27-10 in 1927).

Payment of expenses plus a certain share of the receipts, to be split equally among the big nine members.

Limited pregame practice period.

The game to be played entirely under the auspices of the two conferences, although the big nine could name any university it chose as western representative. This naturally would mean, an official said, that universities to be selected must conform to the western conference regulations.

Alfred R. Masters, general athletics manager at Stanford, and Clinton W. Davis, manager of Athletics at the University of California, expressed hope that the big nine would accept the proposed hookup. Unofficially, it was believed the Pacific Coast Conference would unanimously agree to the pact.

May Go Begging

New Orleans, Oct. 9 (AP)—Plenty of "south" players are willing, but promoters of New Year's bowl football games may have to go hunting this season like party hosts seeking a fourth for bridge.

Six weeks or longer in advance of the selections, it appears that likely participants from the north, east and west are going to be scarce.

Of the top 20 teams listed in the first Associated Press poll to name to nation's strongest eleven, eight are from the south, including Texas.

Nine others represent schools which are bound by conference rules forbidding post-season appearances, or which are likely to frown upon bowl invitations.

Jayvee Gridders Play Port Jervis Here on Saturday

The Kingston High School Jayvee football team will open its five-game schedule Saturday afternoon at municipal stadium by playing the Port Jervis Jayvees. Game time is 2 o'clock.

The Maroon Jayvees have been under the tutelage of Coaches Al Gruner and John Mahle ever since the opening of school and prospects are bright for a successful season.

Ex-Maroon Track Star Trains for Relay

Frank Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dolan, 15 Elizabeth street, has entered LaSalle Military Academy at Oakdale, L. I. The former Kingston High School cross country and track star for the past three years, is in training for the mile relay at LaSalle.

Young Dolan was captain and center of last year's St. Joseph's undefeated basketball team. He also represented the Kingston Recreation Department last June in the Adirondack A.A.U. track meet which was held in Schenectady. He won a trophy in the 440 during that meet.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 9 (AP)—A freakish tropical hurricane, which raised havoc in Cuba with 125-mile-an-hour winds that slowed down relatively to a snail's pace before they entered Florida's west coast, virtually blew itself out last night in the Carolinas.

Carolina at 25-miles-an-hour, had slowed down to less than five-miles-an-hour by the time it hit the North Carolina border early last night in its northeasterly course toward the sea.

The hurricane killed four persons and caused crop damage of $2,000,000 in western Cuba Sunday night, but the winds diminished so rapidly that government weather experts were at a loss to explain the phenomenon. Only negligible damage was done to Florida's rich citrus belt, whose $150,000,000 crop, the largest in history, is due to be harvested in a few weeks.

The winds had dwindled to 40-mile-an-hour gusts in Spartansburg, S. C., last night and only minor damage was reported. The Weather Bureau said the storm would continue northward over the interior of North Carolina and Virginia and over the Atlantic seaboard north of Charleston to Block Island.

Problem of Voting Machines Remains Before Officials

Possibility Is That Eight Parties Might Have To Be Placed in Seven Rows

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—A possibility that eight parties might have to be placed on seven-row voting machines remained before election officials today following adjournment until October 16 of further hearings in a Democratic action to ban four parties from the November 5 ballot.

State Supreme Court Justice William H. Murray ordered the adjournment yesterday after Sol Rubenstein, attorney for Spencer C. Young, Democratic candidate for state comptroller who instituted the action, had attacked 202 signatures to Communist designating petitions as fraudulently obtained.

Young seeks to bar the Communist, Socialist, Socialist Worker and Industrial Government parties from the ballot, contending that each obtained designating petition signatures through fraud.

The secretary of state's office previously had said that unless a decision in the case was reached by October 15 it would be "next to impossible" for the ballots to be read.

As the adjournment action delayed a showdown on the issue, Attorney General Nathan L. Goldstein advised election officials that it might be necessary for certain "independent bodies" to share a single row on seven-row voting machines in the coming election.

There are approximately 500 seven-row machines in the state. Meanwhile, a Communist spokesman asserted a "conspiracy exists" in the Democratic action.

S. W. Gerson, Communist campaign manager, in a radio address (WGY) last night said Young's action was the "first step to block independent political expressions by New York voters."

He declared that some of the persons who had signed the Communist petitions in Rensselaer county but were ordered transferred to Albany county by the "unlawful power" of local officials to repudiate their action.

The hearings opened in Rensselaer county but were ordered transferred to Albany county by the Appellate Division on petition of the Communist party.

Postwar Group Approves Projects

Work Will Cost 2½ Million To Aid Letchworth

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—The State Postwar Public Works Planning Commission today approved construction projects to cost an estimated $2,500,000 to help lessen overcrowding at Letchworth Village, where the commission said, some children are required to sleep on mattresses on the floor.

Letchworth Village, Thiells, Rockland county, is one of five state institutions for the mentally defective.

"Letchworth Village is not adequate to meet present demands," the commission said. "With a certified capacity of 3,173, the institution today has a resident patient population of 4,400, and the commission is of the opinion that some of the children are required to sleep on mattresses placed end to end on the floors."

"Correction of overcrowded conditions will be partly realized in two projects, four one-floor infirmary buildings and a dormitory for young children."

Of the estimated total cost of $2,500,000, $1,861,000 has been appropriated so far, a commission spokesman said.

In addition to the four infirmary buildings to accommodate 480 patients and estimated to cost $1,928,190, and the dormitory, estimated at $409,590, plans call for an addition to the bakery-storehouse, to cost $222,760, and an addition to the power plant, estimated at $395,000.

The estimates are based, the commission said, on 1940 construction costs.

A.M.G. Spends 28 Millions in Wages To Govern Reich
Berlin, Oct. 9 (AP)—The American Military Government in occupied Germany has cost the United States more than $28,000,000 in wages so far, plus millions for food and other supplies, the monthly report of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney showed today.

The American commander said that $23,949,000 had been dispersed in salaries to maintain military personnel attached to the military government and $5,138,000 to American civilians and Allied Nationals working for the government.

The dollar volume of supplies shipped into Germany to support German civilians, displaced persons and civilian internees was not available.

The following tonnages, however, were issued to German civilians to date: 1,283,865 tons of grain and food, 52,219 tons of agricultural supplies and fertilizer, 118,855 tons of petroleum and petroleum products, 9,418 tons of textiles, 8,500 vehicles and trailers and twelve complete hospitals with related supplies.

Meteors Will Put on Show
New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—One of the most spectacular celestial displays in history starts about 10 P. M. (E. S. T.) tonight with the Comet Giacobini-Zinner shedding millions of meteors. The head of the comet zipped past earth nine days ago but was 24,000,000 miles away and not many people noticed. Tonight the fiery tail of meteors will be 131,000 miles away, about half the distance to the moon. It was to be visible to the naked eye over the eastern half of the United States and Canada—but the weather bureau said rain and clouds may hide the display.

Huben Is Named Director By Winter Sportsmen's Group

The New York State Winter Sports Council, an organization designed to correlate the promotion of winter sports activities in the state, was formed at a statewide meeting of winter sports promoters and enthusiasts on October 5 and 6 at Lake Placid.

Nearly 150 persons representing 125 individual and organizational promoters of winter sports attended the session which was sponsored by the Bureau of Publicity of the State Department of Commerce.

Joseph J. Huben, of Albany, head of the Travel Unit of the Bureau of Publicity, was chairman of the meeting.

Edward M. Huben, of the Central Hudson, who has been responsible for promoting the summer boarding house business in Ulster county, was named a member of the Board of Directors. Final organization of the group is scheduled on November 8 in Albany when a permanent slate of officers, by-laws and program will be voted.

Commenting on the Lake Placid sessions, Mr. Huben said the purpose of the Sports Council was to organize the winter sports activities in the state under one central organization.

For Greater Efficiency
At present, Mr. Huben pointed out, there are nearly 150 individuals and organizations in the state that make a bid for winter sports business. Unification of this group it is believed would mean greater efficiency, better correlated programs and greater publicity for New York state.

"Winter sports facilities in New York state are as good as any place in the country," Mr. Huben said, "and this New Winter Sports Council will serve as the agency to make New Yorkers conscious of the magnificent facilities within the borders of our own state."

Mr. Huben said the Council would work in cooperation with the Department of Commerce's Bureau of Publicity on a year round basis.

The Lake Placid sessions were devoted to a series of speeches and lectures by the outstanding winter sports and ski authorities of the country. Every phase of the promotion, maintenance and operation of the ski industry was thoroughly discussed.

Prominent Speakers
Among those who addressed the winter sports promoters were Commissioner M. P. Catherwood of the New York State Department of Commerce; Perry B. Duran, Commissioner of Conservation; Don Short, resort editor of the New York Journal-American; and others.

Lecturers included Joseph Grady of Old Forge, speaking on "Winter Sports Accommodations"; Ellen Champlain, director of Physical Education of the New York State Department of Education; "Skiing for High School and College Students"; Minnie Dole, National Ski

Little Progress Is Made in Setting Up World Force

Reliable Sources Declare Elementary Points Have Yet to Be Decided

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Despite a break in its six-month stalemate through Russia finally submitting a proposal, the United Nations military staff committee actually has made little progress in its massive and politically-potent task of setting up an international force to guard the peace of the world.

The United States, Great Britain, China and France, the other four members of the U.N.'s most secret organ last April offered recommendations on the basic principle which should govern the organization of such a force. These proposals were described in some quarters as carefully-worded papers with no country committing itself to anything approaching a definite plan.

In this connection the Russian proposal was said to be mainly a series of questions regarding charter provisions for the world force. Sources considered highly reliable have agreed that even the most elementary issues have yet to be decided and that it might take months or even years to work out a plan acceptable to all powers.

Perhaps the sharpest illustration of conditions is the fact that after continuous sessions since last March, the committee still has not been able to get approval of its rules of procedure. These usually non-controversial rules, recently submitted to the parent security council, were held up pending clarification from the committee.

Caution Against Pessimism
While the delays leave the council without an "enforcement body" to implement decisions and protect the peace of the world, the admirals and generals on the committee have cautioned against pessimism.

These military men, sitting as representatives of the chiefs of staff of the five powers, contend that all steps from the first must be thorough and unanimous in order to lay a safe and proper groundwork for a plan which eventually might find troops from the United States, Russia, China and other countries fighting side by side under council orders.

Much of the discussion to date was said to have been over shades of meaning of words.

Announcement that the Soviet Union had come in with its plan was the first public statement made regarding progress. With publication of this information, the committee drew back into its shell.

The generals and admirals hold themselves aloof from interviewers although the French delegation recently was said to have supported a policy of issuing periodic communiques. It was understood that this plan was overruled with the committee preferring to continue a policy of strict secrecy.

The committee meets in a penthouse high atop the Henry Hudson Hotel in midtown Manhattan. Elaborate security measures are taken and even member of the stenographic staff are pledged to silence.

San Francisco, Oct. 9 (AP)—Attorney General Robert W. Kenny, in an opinion, barred the sale of prisoner-made handwork to fellow convicts in California prisons, although it may be sold to the public.

Kenny ruled against the prisoners' purchases by defining "public" from the dictionary to mean "people at large."

Reconsideration
Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 9 (AP)—The Tacoma Athletic Commission members want their—ah, er—well, they want it back.

A year ago the Commission heard that Gov. Dewey of New York was lamenting his inability to find a seat for a bathroom fixture in the executive mansion.

The Commission sent him one post haste. Now they are building new quarters in Tacoma and can't find one for their own plumbing. Please, they entreat Mr. Dewey, send it back. And the piece it's attached to, also.

Miller Suggests World Government System in Lecture

Merle D. Miller emphasized the importance of thinking about the condition and possible remedies for the world situation in his talk last night at Kingston High School. The former editor of "Yank," correspondent, author and lecturer spoke in Kingston at a complimentary lecture sponsored by the College Women's, Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs. About 600 attended.

"Eventually peace can only be maintained in the world by a Federal World Government, the same kind as has existed in the United States since 1787," Mr. Miller said in offering his most important contribution toward solving the world's problems. He further explained that this federal government would have laws and means of enforcing them not just mere suggestions as has the present United Nations Organization.

Clash of Ideas
During four years of army service Mr. Miller lived in 16 different countries and from observation he believes "What's happening in the world today is a clash of ideas... most of the people in the world right now are more impressed and taken by and feel there is more future in the Russian way of life than our own."

Citing the devastation and need for food in many of the lands, Mr. Miller feels that the people are more interested in security than freedom. They resent the insistence from Britain and the United States that they return to their old forms of government since it was under these governments that the nations were led to war.

Send Food

His remedy to combat Communism would be to offer the countries both food and freedom. "Continue to send food to Europe for the next 50 years." The cost would be slightly less than the price of World War 2.

He concluded his address with the plea for support of a Federal World Government based on the American federal system.

Clarence L. Dumm, president of Kiwanis, introduced Mr. Miller and also assisted the speaker in conducting a short question period.

Seated on the stage with the speaker were Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, president of College Women's Club; Mrs. Vincent Connelly, chairman of the lecture committee from the College Women's Club; Mr. Dumm, Harry Gold, representative of the Lions Club and George Kernochan, president of Rotary.

Prices for Shoes May Be Increased

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—Prices for some shoes may jump soon as a result of a move to increase production, an O.P.A. official said today.

He told a reporter that a price hike authorized for imported calf skins may push up the cost of men's and women's dress shoes in which calf leather is used.

How much the increase may be cannot be estimated at this time, the official said.

Reconversion Director John R. Steelman authorized higher prices for imported calf skins and leather yesterday in a move to avert what he termed a threatened 40 to 50 percent cut in shoe production in the next three months.

One factor involved in Steelman's action is the sharp decline in domestic hide production resulting from the small number of meat animals moving to market.
